Back-Door Socialism

One question asked over and over again in the ordinary run of popular discussion in the United States is whether or not some new proposal means more socialism.

The frequency with which the question is asked shows people are acutely aware of the direction they are being carried in by the federal government's assumption of power. But the answers they accept show they aren't aware so far of the way in which socialism is being foisted on the American people.

Those who are doing the foisting can't be expected to admit it. In many cases they aren't aware of what they are doing themselves; they haven't looked ahead that far. And in no circumstances would they willingly let the tag of socialism be fastened to their proposals. That would be fatal.

Collectives have a technique for slipping socialism in through the back door. If they get caught doing it, they have a ready explanation—that all they have in mind is public welfare. But they now have run into something that can't be shrugged off with that easy explanation.

For 15 years the federal government has been playing Santa Claus, first with deficit financing, later with cheap money put into whirlwind circulation by a war boom. Pending proposals for even further progress toward a welfare state with its consequences of government control and eventual government ownership would cost billions more.

But unless the government resumes deficit financing, playing Santa Claus on an I. O. U. basis, it must raise taxes. And if it raises taxes it almost certainly will precipitate a depression. While that might hasten the coming of a socialist state, it simultaneously would bring a political upheaval which would be deeply distressing to the political party that precipitated it.

On the subject of oppressive taxation to finance more socialism in Great Britain, the London Economist recently had this to say:

"No opportunity should be lost of bringing home to the public the appalling dilemma they have created for themselves in mortgaging such a fantastic proportion of their individual incomes to meet their collective expenditures. Conceivably, many years of propaganda might bring about such changes in public opinion that real economies in the state's expenditures could be enforced. More probably, the most that can be hoped for is that it will cease to be popular to propose any addition to the present monstrous total."

Scatter For Survival

It's the duty, we suppose, of those who know most about the probable results of atomic warfare to tell what they know. But what they have to say is sometimes puzzling. It doesn't tell us anything.

Dr. R. E. Lapp, an atomic scientist, says in his book, "Must We Hide?" that cities with dense populations piled up in skyscrapers are obsolete. These cities, therefore, must be broken up for the sake of national security. But Dr. Lapp fails to explain how this can be done, other than to admit it would cost a few billion dollars each year to do it.

Persuading people to scatter for survival isn't easy even when their survival is in immediate danger, as it was in London during the war. Many Londoners simply concluded that they would rather take their chances where they were than to take their chances somewhere else. After all, they were Londoners. Their livelihood and their interests were in London, not in some safer place.

Before there is much further talk about breaking up great cities in the United States, there needs to be some methodical soul-searching about the human equation involved. If the atomic era is going to introduce the ultimate in national control of human lives, there are more important things to be decided than the probable effect of gamma rays and lateral thrust on the skyscrapers of New York and Chicago.

Taft Formula

Senator Taft has proposed a formula for evaluating social welfare proposals in congress. The formula is based on his convictions about the way to block totalitarian rule while giving government greater responsibility for public welfare.

In every case, he believes, states should have almost exclusive control of social welfare programs. Responsibility for administration should be distributed over 48 governments, not centralized in Washington. Payments under social welfare programs should be confined to persons in actual need—citizens who can't pay their own way. They should be aimed at the creation of minimum living standards in the United States—a standard for housing a standard for education and a standard for health. And the standard must be adjusted to the ability of the country to maintain it. Senator Taft points out that if one-fifth of the population is unable to meet minimum standards, the cost of assistance must not be greater than the other four-fifths of the population can pay.

These are the premises on which Senator Taft thinks the Republican can safely support social welfare proposals. They differ sharply from the premises on which the Truman administration has been acting. It assumes that the government can support citizens on a basis of what they want, not what they must have to maintain minimum standards. It asks for centralized administration—a welfare state operated in Washington, D. C., by whatever party happens to be in power. It seeks the systematic destruction of state sovereignty.

The Taft formula for social welfare without political disaster seems likely to become the test for separating the totalitarians in congress from the liberals.

The Stars Say

For Saturday, April 23

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

THIS is a most propitious day for furthering the interests along all lines of aspiration, and ambitions for the promotion of cherished desires, hopes and wishes in purely personal as well as business relations.

In business the mind is keen and astute, with probable urges to make new contracts or agreements, in which promotion, preference and professional prestige may be energetically sought. Social, domestic and romantic ties may figure in increasing pleasur and festive activities. Travel, trips, parties and calmer joys call for celebration over the weekend.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are assured a happy, progressive and interesting year, in which there may be pleasant adventure in employment, enhanced opportunity, friendly relations with influential personages, as well as in the gracious field of home or romantic doings. It is a propitious time for pushing the interests and aspirations along all cherished lines, with energy, verve and ultimate gratification. There is sign of gaiety, change, youthful and stirring ventures and fulfillments.

A child born on this day will possess many faculties, talents, ambitions and generous equipment for a pleasant, adventurous and progressive career, in business, employment and social contacts.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By WALTER KIERNAN

It's surprising that Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. wants to go to congress . . . doesn't seem like the kind of fellow to deliberately seek obscurity.

Freshmen congressmen speak only when spoken to and draw committee assignments like "public lands" or "marine and fisheries."

In fact, one fellow who went to congress two terms ago is still sending franked flatfish to his friends.

He ran for congress to help shape our foreign policy and they have him flitting flounders.

Next term he expects to be promoted to "Indian affairs" and he's working up his maiden speech with a smoky fire and a blanket.

Anyway Franklin is running on the liberal party ticket . . . New York City has so many Democrats in congress now, he thought he'd like to be different.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Abdominal Pain and Appendicitis

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Nearly everybody knows that one of the first signs of appendicitis is a severe pain usually in the lower part of the abdomen. And that's true, so long as they don't also get the idea that appendicitis is the only cause of pain in this region. Exactly the reverse is true, here are a great many ailments which create the same kind of pain and in the same location—a rupture or hernia, for instance, or chronic inflammation of the lymph glands in the groin.

Another Group
Disease in another group of lymph glands located within the abdomen may also be responsible for appendicitis-like symptoms. These glands are known as the mesenteric glands. Enlargement and inflammation here are usually due to infection and often follow a severe sore throat. Operation in these instances is not only unnecessary, it may often be dangerous. Hence, it is important that the condition be recognized for what it is, and not mistaken for appendicitis.

Children are the most frequent victims of this disorder. As I said earlier, the pain produced by inflammation of the mesenteric glands resembles that of appendicitis. It often comes on suddenly in colicky attacks, and is located in the right, lower part of the abdomen or around the navel. Vomiting, however, occurs only in rare instances—and this is one of the things which helps in recognizing the condition. Another is the fact that, while there may be tenderness of the muscles over the affected glands, the stiffness and rigidity so often seen in appendicitis are not present.

Another cause of pain in the right, lower part of the abdomen is distention of the caecum, the first section of the large intestine. The distention may be due to constipation. Occasionally, spasm of the muscle of the caecum occurs which will produce painful attacks.

Pain in the right, lower part of the abdomen may also be due to disorders affecting the urinary tract, such as inflammation of the pelvis of the kidney, or to kidney stones.

The pain in this area may also be due to a disorder affecting the lower part of the spine.

Any abdominal pain requires careful investigation by the doctor. In many instances, the pain may be due to simple disorders which are easily relieved. In other cases, operation may be required.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

J. V. J.: How long must one stay in a hospital after a bunion operation? Must special shoes be worn?

Is the operation serious?

Answer: Hospitalization, after a bunion operation, may be as long as a week to ten days.

Special shoes are not necessary. The operation is not a serious one.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON—This $ has become a very import ? in congress now and for us at home and our friends abroad.

In spite of all that's been said and written about them so far this year, congress still hasn't finished with three big items:

The Marshall Plan, the Atlantic Pact and our own Defense Program. The big question with all is: How much can we spend on them without getting into money trouble?

The cost of the three, the way President Truman wants them taken care of, would be about 22 billion dollars.

When you add that to about $20,000,000,000 for running the government at home, our total bill for another year would be around $42 billion.

SO CONGRESS' problem is: Can all that money be spent without raising taxes or putting the country in the red?

To see what lies ahead, first take the Marshall plan—

Both house and senate have "authorized" continuing the plan for helping Europe economically another year.

How much will it cost? Not so fast. In "authorizing" continuance of the plan, both houses have said that no more than about $5½ billion can be spent on it. Will that much be spent?

No one knows. There's a difference between "authorizing" and "appropriating." In "authorizing" congress doesn't actually vote to spend any money.

"Authorizing" is hardly more than saying something is a good thing.

But before money can be spent, congress has to vote again. This is called "appropriating" money.

And it's when congress gets around to voting appropriations for the Marshall plan that the money to be spent on it may be cut down.

How much? Again, no one knows. Two Republican leaders in the senate, Taft of Ohio and Wherry of Nebraska, want cuts. Taft has talked of chopping off 10 per cent and Wherry 15 per cent from the Marshall plan.

SO THERE'LL be quite a to-do about the Marshall plan all over again, when voting appropriations come around, even though the senate took weeks just voting to "authorize" it.

More time will be spent in debating the Atlantic pact, plenty of time, in the senate.

That pact simply says this country and 11 western European countries will stand together if attacked and will help arm one another.

Voting for the pact itself doesn't involve spending any money. Nevertheless, there'll be a lot of debate on the pact. But then comes something else, later.

The cost to us for doing what might run to $2 billion. They will mean a lot more argument in the senate and it probably won't vote any $2 billion.

But paying the expense of our own armed forces will run to around $15 billion. Can that be cut down? The senate certainly will want to talk quite a while about that.

The mood in congress is for economy, and talk about it. Even if the cuts are small the talk will be big.

interested in the organization and construction of the port. Planes will be stationed there to rent to fliers with proper credentials. Aircraft on hand includes a single engine five place Beechcraft, twin engine Cessna and Ercoupe.

The owner, H. D. Paxson, purchased a Beach Bonanza last week. He said he intends to use the four-passenger craft for business activities. It will be stationed in the new airport, along with other business and pleasure planes.

Paxson declared he expects the installation, located only three miles from Salem, to enable him to better service visiting business men who might land at either Youngstown, Cleveland or Canton-Akron airports. He intends to use the plane for quick business calls. "As a time-saver this airport is going to mean an appreciable financial savings to my own and other Salem businesses," Paxson said.

Airport backers look to the future "running stage of development when complete field lighting for routine night flights, two-way radio facilities and a semi-hard runway will be installed.

New Residents Honored At Welcome Wagon Party

Welcome to Salem! This was the keynote of a get-acquainted tea given by Mrs. Vesta King, genial hostess of the Welcome Wagon Service, for a group of newcomers to the city Thursday afternoon in the public library assembly room.

Mrs. G. E. Byers gave a review of Mrs. Mildred Spurrier Tolp's hilarious story, "Smile, Please," which centers around the life of a woman photographer in Greenwood, Mo. Under the direction of Mrs. King the women organized a Newcomers club, national organization, and re-planned to hold monthly meetings on the third Thursday.

Temporary officers are: President, Mrs. E. G. Corman; secretary, Mrs. Duane Osborne; treasurer, Mrs. F. S. Ullom.

Mrs. Harry Hyatt, Mrs. Wesley Beck and Mrs. John Jurczak make up the place committee, while the tea committee for the next meeting is composed of Mrs. H. T. Yingling, Mrs. R. J. Marshall, Jr., Mrs. John Cross, Mrs. E. R. Martin and Mrs. Eric Nyberg.

Most of Salem's new residents in this group are from New York and Pennsylvania.

Backed By Merchants
The Welcome Wagon service, which has established itself in Salem, is a unique multi-million dollar enterprise conducted by 3,000 women and only three men. It is sponsored here by 18 Salem merchants.

The true spirit of genuine hospitality is fully expressed in Welcome Wagon's housewarming call. Mrs. King, who is a graduate of the Divisional Office Training school, has made 117 calls on newcomers since Oct. 1.

On the first visit of the hostess, the newcomer housewife is presented a letter of welcome from the mayor, and at the same time she explains the Service. She also carries a basket of gifts from the local merchants, which she presents one article at a time. While making the presentation, she also volunteers information as to schools, churches, transportation, etc. As a consequence of her visit, a minister of her faith calls and the family receives invitations to various social activities.

have to pay the insurance "premiums" in the form of taxes.

The idea is taxes would be deducted from pay rolls just as are present social security taxes.

Rep. Dingell (D-Mich.) will introduce the President's measure in the house Monday.

Dingell has estimated the tax needed to get the program underway would be one and one-half percent each on employer and employee on payrolls.

Truman told congress "we should lose no time in making a full-scale beginning on all parts of our health program."

"At the same time that we are putting health insurance into operation, we should be establishing the hospitals and clinics, and training the medical personnel that the insurance system will enable us to afford," he said.

"We cannot, of course, achieve our goals fully until the system has been in operation for some time. That fact emphasizes the need for early legislative action."

He said the government insurance must be built "on the pattern of our existing social insurance plans" and cover as many persons as possible. He suggested decentralization of administration to the greatest possible extent.

As medical education and practice have become better, the President said, they have become more specialized and more expensive until families "have found it more and more difficult to meet the extraordinary costs of accidents, serious illness or major surgery."

In recommending expansion of medical schools, the President also proposed federal funds for construction of teaching hospitals and other facilities, and scholarship aid for good students who might lack funds for long periods of training.

COLUMBIANA FUND DRIVE SUCCESSFUL

Legion Auxiliary Is Able To Buy Extra Hospital Equipment

COLUMBIANA, April 22 — Its fund-raising campaign was so successful that Firestone Legion post auxiliary has been able to buy additional hospital equipment for community use, supplementing that already purchased with funds derived.

The additional purchases are another bed, wheel chair and six pairs of crutches, duplicating the original purchase, with the exception of the oxygen tent, which was sent to Lisbon to be available for county use.

The auxiliary voted to establish a memory shelf at the public library, where books will be placed in memory of deceased members. New members initiated were Mrs. Mae Fritsch, Mrs. Gertrude Mahler and Mrs. Margaret Browning.

The next meeting of the auxiliary will be a mother-daughter banquet at the Legion home Wednesday evening, May 18. Mrs. Arthur Green of Paris, O., past state president, has been invited to speak.

New Scouts Inducted

About 75 parents, scouters and scouts were present at the coverdish supper given by Boy Scout Troop 16, of the Methodist church in the church dining room Wednesday evening. Nine new members were added to the troop in an investiture ceremony.

Scout Larry Stacey presided for the program following the supper. George Robertson, assistant scoutmaster, discussed the scout oath and scout law, and there was a moving picture, entitled, "The Years Between."

In the investiture ceremony, conducted by Mr. Robertson, three boys became members of the troop: John Patchen, Donald Gieckler, Harland Leonard, Kenneth Gamble, Charles Dahms, Charles Bevington, Hubert Keylor, Donald Oberholtzer and Jimmy Spratt.

Service pins awarded were one 5-year, four 3-year, two 2-year, and eight 1-year.

O. E. S. Chapter Inspected
Columbian chapter, O. E. S., was inspected Tuesday evening by the deputy grand matron, Mrs. Ruth Lautzenheiser of Canton. Mrs. Vivian Burge of Youngstown, worthy matron, and John Sittler, worthy patron, presided. Guests included Mrs. Thuria York of Salem, grand representative. Other guests were present from Canton, Salem, Salineville, East Palestine, Hanoverton, Negley, Lisbon and Leetonia.

Preceding the meeting, dinner was served at the Presbyterian church.

Famous Inns Dot Ohio; Many Have Historical Past

COLUMBUS, April, 1949—Famous stagecoach taverns of yesterday still dot Ohio's landscape. Some still continue to operate as eating establishments, while others have been set up as tourist attractions.

Many are located on modern highways that began as rutted, dusty stagecoach roads. Some taverns were important in the history-making of Ohio and the country.

The Stadium hotel, Cleveland, was the scene of many important political addresses made by such personalities as President Andrew Johnson and General U. S. Grant. Our House, Gallipolis, built in 1819, entertained many distinguished visitors including Lafayette and Louis Philippe of France. The Golden Lamb, Lebanon, housed such notable as Charles Dickens and Presidents Adams, Van Buren, Harrison Hayes, McKinley and Harding.

Used By Henry Clay
Locust lodge, Middlebourne, which is still operated by descendants of William Penn, was a favorite stopping place for Henry Clay. The Red Brick Tavern, Lafayette, was open for business in 1837 and prepared food for many Presidents and other dignitaries.

When stagecoaches started using the National Road—now Route 40—three taverns went into business. One was Pine Tree Inn, Old Washington, and the others were Headley Inn, Zanesville, which has been serving travelers since 1802, and Colonial Inn, Old Washington, in operation since 1803.

The Brecksville inn, Brecksville, was built in 1839, and is unusual because it was put together with black walnut siding three feet wide and handmade nails and wooden pegs. Cress Keys tavern, Chillicothe, was built in 1797 and became famous as a meeting place for stockmen and drovers. It went out of business in 1890. Hunt tavern, Springfield, was built on the site of Simon Kanton's first home in Ohio. Stagecoach tavern, Coschocton, was the center of festivities during the days of canal traffic.

Dunham tavern, Cleveland, still continues to serve food and drink.

Dad's Reason for Flying

While their flying father, Dick Riedel, along with pilot Bill Barris, is soaring to a new world's endurance flying record, Rosemary Riedel, 4, and her brother, Dickie, 10, watch the plane from their home in Buena Park, Calif., where Dickie is confined to bed with arthritis. Riedel and Barris have already broken the existing endurance record for light planes and hope to set a new mark of 1008 hours by April 26. When this is done, Riedel expects to pay doctors to cure Dickie with the money he gets from the flight.

It is noted for an old stone smokehouse, and the many pioneer relics from all parts of the Western Reserve. Rider tavern, Painesville, was built in 1818 and modeled after Washington's Mount Vernon home. Two taverns that were important on stage runs into Cleveland were Stone tavern, Boland, and Singletary House, Streetsboro. Stone tavern, also called Sparrow tavern, was built in 1804. Singletary House went up in 1828.

Buxton tavern, Granville, has been a dining place since 1812.

KENSINGTON

Miss Anna Mae McCloskey, daughter of Mrs. Ada McCloskey of Minerva, became the bride of William Gress, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Gross of R. D. Kensington, at a beautiful spring wedding March 20, in the Yellow Creek Presbyterian church near Wellsville.

Baskets of spring flowers amidst greenery and candelabras adorned the altar to which Sylvanus DeBee escorted his niece, Rev. G. B. Hawk of Freeport, assisted by Rev. H. H. Ellers pastor of the Yellow Creek church, conducted the exchange of vows before an open church.

Miss Joan Lots of Robertsville was the organ for a half hour of traditional inviol music preceding the wedding. She also accompanied Miss Norma DeBee, cousin of the bride, who sang.

The bride wore an egg shell Skinner gown with a white and black neckline. It had a fitted bodice with a long train and long pointed sleeves. Her finger tip veil was arranged with a headpiece of flowers and she carried a white Bible with a white orchid showerer with stephanotis. Her only jewelry was a rhinestone necklace, a gift of the bridegroom.

As maid of honor, Miss Jeanne DeBee, cousin of the bride, wore a lavender satin gown with a neckline to match the bride's. She carried a colonial bouquet of spring flowers with calla lilies. The bridesmaids were Misses Jo Ann McHenry, Nancy Lou Raley, Lottie Lou Lipincott and Donna Walters, all of Minerva. They wore gowns of lavender, yellow, pink and green with an off-the-shoulder neckline effect. Their colonial bouquets were of spring flowers and carnations.

An uncle of the bridegroom, W. J. McCullough, Jr. of Canton, was the best man. Dean Moore of the bridegroom, and Robert Thompson, both of Minerva, and Don Poynter and John Poynter, cousins of the bride, both of Wellsville, were ushers.

Mrs. Ada McCloskey, mother of the bride, wore a pink crepe dress with navy accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Otto Gross, the bridegroom's mother, wore a navy dress with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

A reception was held for 80 persons at the home of the bride's aunt in East Liverpool. Misses Mary Jane Noble, Betty Ray and Vivian Johnston, all of Minerva, assisted. Guests were from Bowling, Wellsville, Canton, Minerva, East Liverpool and Detroit, Michigan.

For going away, the bride chose a navy suit with gray accessories and wore the orchid from her wedding.

Stage-Door Johnnies Vanish But Show Girls Don't Care

By JOHN ROSENBERG
United Press Correspondent

NEW YORK—Mink coats, diamond bracelets and cozy love nests are no longer standard gifts for Broadway's show girls, for the stage-door Johnnies, or "sugar daddies," have disappeared.

A poll of Broadway beauties indicated that they may never return—and never be missed.

Candy Montgomery, a blonde blue-eyed beauty who is representative of the 80 or 90 show girls now appearing in The Street's 10 musicals, said the girls were "too busy" even to think about a Johnny.

She denied that the show girl of today had lost anything in the way of allure.

"Actually," she said, "the show girls of today are more beautiful than ever. We have better measurements than the oldsters and never use artificial supports to accentuate our figures."

Well-Equipped

Even from the rear balcony of the Imperial theater, where Miss Montgomery is appearing in the hit revue, "Along Fifth Avenue," it would be obvious that she was remarkably well prepared to back her claim. She meets the minimum show girl requirements admirably, measuring 36 about the appropriate regions and standing 5 feet 9 inches in her mesh nylons.

"The girls of today are more talented and intelligent than they used to be," Miss Montgomery added. "They all dance and sing and many have college degrees."

Actually, the last noteworthy appearance of the Johnnies was in the early 1940s, when a handful of millionaire bachelors backed a sumptuous Broadway night club and installed their favorite cuties in "the line." However, until recently, a few still remained a part of the theatrical scene.

Diamond Jim Recalled

The most famous "patron of the arts," as the Johnnies called themselves, was Diamond Jim Brady, a gentleman who liked two-pound steaks surrounded by a handful of chops at mealtime. Brady, strictly an orange juice man, became so enamored of Lillian Russell that he drank champagne from her slipper in public to demonstrate his ardor.

Bold Lilly Langtry, who once poured water down the back of a king's neck, was another stage personality whose face and figure inflamed the imagination of the Johnnies.

One of her admirers was Judge Roy Bean, dispenser of "Law West of the Pecos." He named a Texas town after Miss Langtry and christened her.

A telegram bringing Easter greetings to the group was read from Lorin Reeder of Shanghai, China. Reeder is the United States Information Service headquarters there.

Out-of-town guests were present from East Liverpool, Alliance, Minerva, and New Garden.

Mrs. Wayne Roach will entertain when members of the Ladies Aid society hold their regular meeting Thursday afternoon, April 28. This was announced when the group met with Mrs. Bertha Clark as hostess. Lunch was served by the hostess.

Miss Brenda Mullikin of Cincinnati spent the Easter season with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Robert Mullikin.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Roberts of Eugene, Oregon, are the parents of a daughter. The former was a Kensington resident.

ened his saloon "Jersey Lilly" in honor of her birthplace.

Not Impressed

But these tales of days gone made little impression on Miss Montgomery and her colleagues.

"We're interested only in careers today and have little time for heavy romance," she insisted. "And, of course, the Johnnies get discouraged quickly when girls fall to devote all free time to them. Also, investing in a musical today is pretty expensive. A show that once cost $10,000 to stage would mean an outlay of $150,000 today."

Miss Montgomery said the average show girl's schedule runs like this:

6 to 8 p. m.—dinner; 8 p. m. to midnight — evening performance; midnight to 2 a. m.—supper; 2 a. m. to 1 p. m.—sleep. "The after noon hours are usually spent shopping, modeling or studying," she said.

GREENFORD

At the Wednesday evening meeting of the Greenford P. T. A. the following officers were elected: President, Mr. Elmer Bowers; first vice president, Mrs. Sam Thomas; second vice president, Mr. C. H. Albright; secretary, Mrs. Homer Price; assistant secretary, Mrs. C. H. Albright; treasurer, Mrs. Ewing Holway; assistant, Mrs. Donald Bennett; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Russell Gunn.

Members were entertained by a piano selection played by Walter Feicht, and Miss Norma Feicht sang a vocal solo "Come Ye Blessed." At the next meeting installation of officers will take place.

Calls Business Change 'Temporary'; It's Needed

NEW YORK, April 22—A spokesman for the National Retail Dry Goods association predicts 1949 retail sales will be equal to last year, "if proper promotional efforts are put behind it."

Charles C. Nichols of Youngstown, chairman of the NRDA board of directors, made the forecast yesterday at the close of a meeting of the association's board of directors.

Nichols said: "The current business adjustment is temporary—a needed and long necessary postwar adjustment."

"More confidence by business and the public seems justified by higher wages, lower prices and lower taxes," he declared.

SPRING BOOST NOW OVERDUE

Government Reports Show Economic Lift Later; Uptrend Delayed

WASHINGTON, April 22—(AP)—The spring season's expected boost for the nation's economy is overdue.

That became clear today from a new batch of government reports. They showed fresh declines in non-farm employment, in factory workers' earnings and working hours, in business loans and in estimated farm receipts.

Commissioner Ewan Clague of the bureau of Labor statistics, said ordinarily these figures should have shown an uptrend this time of the year. He said maybe it's just delayed action, due in part to a late Easter.

Snyder Optimistic
Another top official, Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, sounded an optimistic note last night. He said latest employment figures actually are higher than a year ago and purchasing power still is high.

"Right now," said Snyder, "in the pockets of the American people, we have $200,000,000,000 of liquid assets."

Snyder said the present economic picture lacks the elements that "brought on depression and depression crises in the past."

A third government expert, Louis H. Bean, said businessmen can cause a depression by curtailing investment for industrial expansion. He said recent surveys indicate they plan to reduce it in the next five years to 40 per cent of the 1943 level.

Bean is economic adviser to Secretary of Agriculture Brennan. Clague said the new lag in workers' earnings and working hours means a cut in public purchasing power. He gave these figures for March:

Non-farm employment—down 150,000 from February to 43,848,000. This is 750,000 below a year ago, when March showed a 300,000 increase over February. Non-farm employment represents about three-fourths of the nation's workers.

Factory earnings and working hours—Weekly earnings down about $1 to $53.37 from February and down $1.88 from December's $55.03 peak. Working hours reduced from 39.4 in February to 38.9 in March.

A 13th consecutive weekly decline in business loans was reported by the Federal Reserve board. It said they fell off $84,000,000 in the week ended April 13.

In over-all employment the census bureau has reported a slight increase for March from February.

Quake Hits Chile

Strong earthquakes rocked central Chile (shaded area), causing heavy property damage and killing at least 30 persons. The epicenter of the quake was estimated at a point (1) 250 miles south of Santiago. Thirty were known dead in the collapse of a tall at Talcahuano. All cities shown on the map were severely shaken, with the town of Temuco suffering the worst shocks.

German Scientists Who Have Aided U. S. Are Lauded

By GEORGE MOISE

WASHINGTON, April 22—The 500 German scientists working on military projects in the United States are credited today with saving the nation more than a billion defense dollars and up to ten years in research time.

Navy Capt. Bosquet N. Wey, in charge of importation and distribution of the scientists since April, 1945, also reported that about 80 per cent of the Germans brought here under the program wish to remain in the U. S.

He said that approximately 150 already have applied for citizenship. Another 70 have returned to Germany, all but one or two voluntarily.

We spoke only in round figures, because the exact number of German scientists in this country is a closely guarded secret. He said that of the 400-odd who wished to stay, about 150 have been granted permanent immigration status, and that all of these have applied for citizenship.

Wey pointed out that the scientists working for the national military establishment should be distinguished from German specialists and technical experts brought to the U. S. under various exchange programs.

The defense department, which brought the military scientists to this country, has nothing to do with the exchange Germans, who come to the U. S. temporarily, for six-week to six-month periods.

Wey pointed out that all the specialists brought over by the defense department had been carefully screened. In addition, he said, they are under constant surveillance until they are given permission to remain in the U. S. permanently.

Hydrogen Eye New Scientific Gimmick

NEW YORK, April 22—(AP)—A hydrogen eye, a new kind of microscope that sees with hydrogen rays instead of light, is reported in today's issue of Nucleonics, an atomic science journal.

This eye can magnify 600,000 times. That is far beyond anything ever attempted. Electron microscopes can magnify about 100,000 times.

The new instrument is described by Claude Magnan, of the laboratory of atomic and molecular physics, College of France, Paris.

The new rays are nuclei of hydrogen atoms. These nuclei are single protons. They are made by passing hydrogen gas over an incandescent filament, or through an electrostatic field. This strips away the single electron of each hydrogen atom.

Although these protons are massive, material particles, they do an inexplicable thing. They travel with the same wave motion as light. The wave motion makes it possible to use them as beams for a microscope. They take the same kind of pictures as electrons and X-rays.

The advantage is the very short wave lengths of protons. This is far shorter than any other wave and makes it possible to see smaller things.

JOURNAL ENTRIES

L. A. Finley, et al vs James Duffy, et al; Court finds that the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters on whose behalf this suit was brought by plaintiffs, has a property interest in any overpayment of salaries of defendants; that the interpretation of the phrase "voting from the roll" by the canvassing committee after the vote had been taken and could not be corrected was clearly arbitrary, unreasonable and unfair; that the vote of Local Unions Nos. 87 and 174 were irregular and in violation of the clear provisions of the Constitution, and that the vote of No. 174 was tainted with fraud and that the action of the canvassing committee in voiding the vote of No. 87 was correct and in sustaining the vote of No. 174 was manifestly superficial and unreasonable. . . . It is therefore the decision of the Court that the votes of Local Unions Nos. 87, 10, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 128, 129, 130, 131, 132, 133, 134, 135, 136, 137, 138, 139, 140, 141, 142, 143, 144, 145, 146, 147, 148, 149, 150, 151, 152, 153, 154, 155, 156, 157, 158, 159, 160, 161, 162, 163, 164, 165, 166, 167, 168, 169, 170, 171, 172, 173, 174, 175, 176, 177, 178, 179, 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 187, 188, 189, 190, 191, 192, 193, 194, 195, 196, 197, 198, 199, 200, 201, 202, 203, 204, 205, 206, 207, 208, 209, 210, 211, 212, 213, 214, 215, 216, 217, 218, 219, 220, 221, 222, 223, 224, 225, 226, 227, 228, 229, 230, 231, 232, 233, 234, 235, 236, 237, 238, 239, 240, 241, 242, 243, 244, 245, 246, 247, 248, 249, 250, 251, 252, 253, 254, 255, 256, 257, 258, 259, 260, 261, 262, 263, 264, 265, 266, 267, 268, 269, 270, 271, 272, 273, 274, 275, 276, 277, 278, 279, 280, 281, 282, 283, 284, 285, 286, 287, 288, 289, 290, 291, 292, 293, 294, 295, 296, 297, 298, 299, 300, 301, 302, 303, 304, 305, 306, 307, 308, 309, 310, 311, 312, 313, 314, 315, 316, 317, 318, 319, 320, 321, 322, 323, 324, 325, 326, 327, 328, 329, 330, 331, 332, 333, 334, 335, 336, 337, 338, 339, 340, 341, 342, 343, 344, 345, 346, 347, 348, 349, 350, 351, 352, 353, 354, 355, 356, 357, 358, 359, 360, 361, 362, 363, 364, 365, 366, 367, 368, 369, 370, 371, 372, 373, 374, 375, 376, 377, 378, 379, 380, 381, 382, 383, 384, 385, 386, 387, 388, 389, 390, 391, 392, 393, 394, 395, 396, 397, 398, 399, 400, 401, 402, 403, 404, 405, 406, 407, 408, 409, 410, 411, 412, 413, 414, 415, 416, 417, 418, 419, 420, 421, 422, 423, 424, 425, 426, 427, 428, 429, 430, 431, 432, 433, 434, 435, 436, 437, 438, 439, 440, 441, 442, 443, 444, 445, 446, 447, 448, 449, 450, 451, 452, 453, 454, 455, 456, 457, 458, 459, 460, 461, 462, 463, 464, 465, 466, 467, 468, 469, 470, 471, 472, 473, 474, 475, 476, 477, 478, 479, 480, 481, 482, 483, 484, 485, 486, 487, 488, 489, 490, 491, 492, 493, 494, 495, 496, 497, 498, 499, 500, 501, 502, 503, 504, 505, 506, 507, 508, 509, 510, 511, 512, 513, 514, 515, 516, 517, 518, 519, 520, 521, 522, 523, 524, 525, 526, 527, 528, 529, 530, 531, 532, 533, 534, 535, 536, 537, 538, 539, 540, 541, 542, 543, 544, 545, 546, 547, 548, 549, 550, 551, 552, 553, 554, 555, 556, 557, 558, 559, 560, 561, 562, 563, 564, 565, 566, 567, 568, 569, 570, 571, 572, 573, 574, 575, 576, 577, 578, 579, 580, 581, 582, 583, 584, 585, 586, 587, 588, 589, 590, 591, 592, 593, 594, 595, 596, 597, 598, 599, 600, 601, 602, 603, 604, 605, 606, 607, 608, 609, 610, 611, 612, 613, 614, 615, 616, 617, 618, 619, 620, 621, 622, 623, 624, 625, 626, 627, 628, 629, 630, 631, 632, 633, 634, 635, 636, 637, 638, 639, 640, 641, 642, 643, 644, 645, 646, 647, 648, 649, 650, 651, 652, 653, 654, 655, 656, 657, 658, 659, 660, 661, 662, 663, 664, 665, 666, 667, 668, 669, 670, 671, 672, 673, 674, 675, 676, 677, 678, 679, 680, 681, 682, 683, 684, 685, 686, 687, 688, 689, 690, 691, 692, 693, 694, 695, 696, 697, 698, 699, 700, 701, 702, 703, 704, 705, 706, 707, 708, 709, 710, 711, 712, 713, 714, 715, 716, 717, 718, 719, 720, 721, 722, 723, 724, 725, 726, 727, 728, 729, 730, 731, 732, 733, 734, 735, 736, 737, 738, 739, 740, 741, 742, 743, 744, 745, 746, 747, 748, 749, 750, 751, 752, 753, 754, 755, 756, 757, 758, 759, 760, 761, 762, 763, 764, 765, 766, 767, 768, 769, 770, 771, 772, 773, 774, 775, 776, 777, 778, 779, 780, 781, 782, 783, 784, 785, 786, 787, 788, 789, 790, 791, 792, 793, 794, 795, 796, 797, 798, 799, 800, 801, 802, 803, 804, 805, 806, 807, 808, 809, 810, 811, 812, 813, 814, 815, 816, 817, 818, 819, 820, 821, 822, 823, 824, 825, 826, 827, 828, 829, 830, 831, 832, 833, 834, 835, 836, 837, 838, 839, 840, 841, 842, 843, 844, 845, 846, 847, 848, 849, 850, 851, 852, 853, 854, 855, 856, 857, 858, 859, 860, 861, 862, 863, 864, 865, 866, 867, 868, 869, 870, 871, 872, 873, 874, 875, 876, 877, 878, 879, 880, 881, 882, 883, 884, 885, 886, 887, 888, 889, 890, 891, 892, 893, 894, 895, 896, 897, 898, 899, 900, 901, 902, 903, 904, 905, 906, 907, 908, 909, 910, 911, 912, 913, 914, 915, 916, 917, 918, 919, 920, 921, 922, 923, 924, 925, 926, 927, 928, 929, 930, 931, 932, 933, 934, 935, 936, 937, 938, 939, 940, 941, 942, 943, 944, 945, 946, 947, 948, 949, 950, 951, 952, 953, 954, 955, 956, 957, 958, 959, 960, 961, 962, 963, 964, 965, 966, 967, 968, 969, 970, 971, 972, 973, 974, 975, 976, 977, 978, 979, 980, 981, 982, 983, 984, 985, 986, 987, 988, 989, 990, 991, 992, 993, 994, 995, 996, 997, 998, 999, 1000.

Television Gets Peabody Radio Award For First Time

NEW YORK, April 22—(AP)—Ten radio "Oscars" and three special citations, known in the network industry as George Foster Peabody radio awards, were distributed today.

For the first time in the nine-year-old history of the awards, a special salute was paid to an "outstanding contribution to the art of television."

This went to the American Broadcasting company's "Actor Studio" as "the first to recognize that drama on television is neither a stage play nor a movie, but a separate and distinct new art form."

For the second time, Edward R. Murrow, CBS commentator, received the award for "outstanding reporting and interpretation of the news." He won a Peabody plaudit in 1943.

Other awards for outstanding achievement included:

Entertainment in Drama — NBC University theater as "An hour's dramatization of some of our finest novels and short stories."

Entertainment in comedy — Groucho Marx (ABC), the "Dean of all wisecrackers in the country."

Entertainment in Music — National Broadcasting company for its overall contribution to the broadcasting of good music with special reference to the NBC symphony, the orchestras of the nation and the first piano quartet.

Educational Program — Robert M. Saudek, ABC vice-president in charge of public affairs, "In appreciation of his documentary program, 'Communism—U. S. Brand'."

Program in promotion of international understanding—Columbia Broadcasting system for overall contributions with special reference to Larry Leiser, "Memo From Lake Success," "Between the Dark and Daylight," "U. N. in Action," "Crusade for Children," "As Others See Us," "An American Abroad."

Public Service by a Regional Station—Station KNBC, San Francisco, for producing nine weekly programs, "Forests Aflame" during "the period of greatest forest fire danger."

Public Service by a Local Station—Station WJAR, Savannah, Ga., for the public service program, "You and Youth," by which it "contributed wisely and helpfully to problems of juvenile delinquency."

Navy Mauler Hauls Record Payload

Spread out in front of this Navy Martin AM-1 Mauler, nicknamed Able Mabel, are the 14,170 pounds of armaments, fuel and pilot which the 15,153-pound plane can carry in flight. The craft recently set a new world's record in payload for one-man carrier-based attack planes. Twenty years ago it would have taken 10 planes to lift this load, which includes three 2200-pound torpedoes, 12 250-pound bombs and four 20-mm. cannon with 800 rounds of ammunition. The plane can fly scouting missions up to 2000 miles.

Marriage Counsellor's Marriage Cracks Up; Friends Wonder Why

By KEN DAVIS

COLUMBUS, April 22—(AP)—Many couples who owed their happy married life to Dr. John F. Cuber wondered today why the professor's own marriage went on the rocks.

It seemed impossible to these people that the man who handled their troubles so deftly as head of the Ohio State university marriage counseling clinic could misfire with his own home life.

Dr. Cuber didn't explain. "I have no comment," he said.

His wife, Esther, moved to dissolve the 17-year union in a petition to the Franklin county court of domestic relations. She asked a divorce on grounds of neglect.

She didn't expand the charge. Her attorney said he anticipated an uncontested suit so details were not necessary.

Acquaintances could only speculate. They wondered if Dr. Cuber had become so engrossed in salvaging other couples' home lives that he forgot to salvage his own.

Dr. Cuber stressed the long hours and multiple worries of the life of a marriage counselor in a story written for a magazine a year ago. That was in April, 1948—about five months before the university established its marriage clinic as a student service.

The OSU sociologist came to the school in 1944. In addition to serving as a full professor, Dr. Cuber since that time had acted as a marriage counselor privately. Hundreds of persons from Columbus and central Ohio have sought his aid in righting their marriages.

In telling of these case histories, Dr. Cuber explained that a marriage counselor does not counsel from his own experience or from his own feelings. He uses a scientific approach, based on his study of human relations in sociology, psychology, psychiatry, and psychology.

And Dr. Cuber was frank in admitting that some marital situations had degenerated to such a state by the time they reached him that only divorce could bring an answer.

"It is like calling the doctor so late that there is nothing left for him to do but make out the death certificate."

Dr. Cuber further warned against taking marital problems to friends or office buddies and expecting the proper solution.

Blind Leading Blind
"Many times," he said, "this makes a case of the blind leading the blind over the abyss."

The sociologist shunned capsule advice on marriage. Only by conferences with both parties and earnest dissection of the situation, Dr. Cuber felt, could the root of marital evil be dug out and done away with.

He urged early summons of a scientific expert in human relations. Since Dr. Cuber was the pre-eminent authority in this field in Columbus, his own troubles found no suitable expert handy.

Friends said the trouble in the Cuber home had been brewing for some time. Four days before Mrs. Cuber filed for divorce, the professor resigned his clinic post. He said he had accepted a visiting professorship at the University of Southern California.

To make the situation even more ironic, Dr. Cuber was almost prophetic unwittingly when he wrote that magazine story a year ago. After describing a typical day in the life of a marriage counselor, Dr. Cuber wrote:

"There was the winding drive homeward up the Olentangy river road where the peaceful country side makes it difficult to realize that in Franklin county more than 10,000 homes have been broken up by divorce in the last five years.

"One wonders, too, how many of the houses with the blinking lights will escape the epidemic in spite of the occupants' best efforts. All of this, however, does not seem to worry my big woolly Chw, 'Butch,' who waits to greet me. His chief concern is that he gets his walk through the woods along the river."

"As we make that nightly trek, the tolls of men and women caught in the web of marriages which they do not understand and cannot handle seem very, very far away."

"But, they will be there tomorrow."

Tomorrow came just one year later.

WARNS AGREEMENT ON PRESS FREEDOM MUST MAKE STRIDES

WASHINGTON, April 22—(AP)—American efforts for a United Nations agreement on freedom of information may "leave us farther back than we started," President Erwin D. Canham told the American Society of Newspaper Editors today.

Opening the three-day ASNE annual meeting, Canham reported that the battle for a free international flow of news has turned into "an ill and dangerous business."

The original agreement have been so altered by proposed amendments, he said, that they are being used in some areas "as a means of imposing new controls and limitations on the press."

Canham, editor of The Christian Science Monitor, is a member of the United States delegation on the U.N. project. Noting some brightening of the outlook in recent days, he said the results "may not be so bad." But he warned:

Avoid Set-Back

"The danger is that at this stage in world history, international law may be written on the subject of freedom of information which will leave us farther back than we started."

"If we are defeated, on the final vote, and on serious grounds, there is of course no compulsion on the United States to sign and ratify these conventions."

In another report on freedom of information, Basil Walters, executive editor of the Knight newspapers, advised the editors to stand vigil against repressive tendencies in local and state governments, as well as in Washington and overseas.

Tonight a "congressional evening" awaited the editors. Senator Flinders (R-Vt) was due to speak on federal pay. Senator Long (D-La.), on experiences of a freshman senator; Senator Byrd (D-Va.) on economy in government, and Rep. Herter (R-Mass) on the Atlantic pact and European Recovery.

Blind Grapplers Hold Own Against Sighted Opponents

AP Newsfeatures

BALTIMORE — The athlete lengthened his stride as he neared the finish line of the cross country race. Rounding the final bend at top speed, he crashed into a tree, staggered to the ground and lay there.

"What's the matter with that guy? Is he blind?" asked a spectator. "Yes," replied another, "he's blind."

This incident took place about nine years ago during the Maryland Scholastic Association's annual meet. The runner, barely able to distinguish night from day without his spectacles, represented the Maryland School for the Blind. He suffered only minor injuries.

Since then the school has abandoned cross country competition and concentrated on wrestling—and is holding its own against all comers.

Take Gene Spurrier. Blind since birth, this 20-year-old performer is the cream of the current crop of wrestlers at the school. He won the 126-pound championship recently in a tournament sponsored by the Eastern Athletic Association for the Blind.

Over a four-year period he has placed second once and third three times in the Maryland scholastics—open to all high school wrestlers.

Spurrier says there isn't a "whole lot of difference" between wrestling a blind opponent and wrestling one who can see.

"On my feet I'm mostly a counter-wrestler, so I don't do too much until we hit the mat. . . But once I touch a guy's shoulder, I can get a pretty good idea about what he's up to."

"A dip of that shoulder, the way he rolls his hips—they help tell you what he's gonna do."

The association for sightless athletes is in its third year and includes state schools in Kentucky, North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia and New York.

Among the privately endowed institutions are the Maryland school, Perkins of Watertown, Mass.; Connecticut School for the Blind at Hartford, Overbrook of Philadelphia and the New York (City) Institute for Education of the Blind.

Like the Maryland school, most of these now point for the annual blind meet instead of the open tournaments in their respective states. But they still take on sighted schools during the season.

At the moment, they're warming up for the association's track meet to be held in May at Hartford.

Events include high jump and broad jump—both from the standing position—dashes and the shot put. Spurrier has done four feet, 7 1/2 inches in the standing high jump. He stands only about nine inches taller.

Other athletes, guiding themselves along cables strung from the start to the finish line, have sprinted 75 yards in less than eight seconds.

Coaching the Maryland school is one of the youngest prep athletic directors of the nation, 30-year-old Hugh Arnold. Before graduating last year he had won third place in the public open wrestling tournament.

PINEHURST, N. C. — Harvey Ward the defending champion, moved into semi-final round of North-South amateur tournament along with Frank Stranahan, Arnold Palmer and Dick Chapman.

WILMINGTON, N. C. — Paul O'Leary, 20-year-old Blismark, N. D. pro, shot an eight-under-par 64 to lead the field after the first round in the $10,000 open Wilmington tournament.

NEW YORK — Spats ($7.40) and Dry Fly ($15.50) won the co-features at Jamaica.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md. — Ram-pant ($19.40) beat favored Pilaster in the mile and a sixteenth feature at Havre De Grace.

PHILADELPHIA — Percy Bassett, 128 1/2, Philadelphia, knocked out Luis Ramos, 128 1/2, Puerto Rico, 6.

OSHKOSH, Wis. — Charles "Cubby" Lewis, 131 1/2, Brooklyn, out-pointed Jesse Underwood, 133 1/2, Huntington, W. Va. 10.

REDS ARRIVE IN PITTSBURGH WITH HEADS IN CLOUDS

Are High In First, A Spot Loffy In Cincinnati Recent History

PITTSBURGH, April 22—(AP)—The Redlegs of Cincinnati arrived here today with their heads in the clouds.

As they took the field against the Pittsburgh Pirates, the Reds held undisputed possession of first place in the National league, a misty height seldom reached by the Cincinnati club in recent years.

Manager Buckey Walters, in search of another starter to go with his ace left-handers—Johnny Vander Meer and Ken Raffensberger—was undecided whether he would use Edward Fox or Herm Wehmeier in the opener of the three-game Pirate series. Bob Cheneas was scheduled to start for Pittsburgh.

It was Vandy and his southpaw slants, combined with a powerful hitting attack, which boosted the Reds into the league's No. 1 position yesterday.

Vander Meer pitched five-hit ball against the St. Louis Cardinals at Cincinnati to shut out the Red Birds 5-0 and give the Reds their second win without a loss in the four-day-old season.

Left Fielder Hank Sauer and Second Baseman Jimmy Bloodworth aided and abetted in the St. Louis rout. Both of them clouted two-run homers off Cardinal Starter Howie Pollet.

Vandy was in command all the way. He didn't walk a man—unusual for him—and permitted only two Cardinals to reach second.

EWELL BLACKWELL HAS MADE QUITE A NAME IN MAJORS

By TERRY FLYNN

CINCINNATI—(AP)—For a fellow who once gave promise of becoming an outstanding collegiate basketball player, Ewell Blackwell has made quite a name for himself as a major league baseball pitcher.

The six-foot six-inch hurler, who took it easy at the Cincinnati Reds' Tampa, Fla., training camp after a kidney operation, was a basketball star during his high school days in San Dimas, Calif. He played some baseball in high school, performing at third base, but generally had little interest in the diamond sport in those days.

As a result of his basketball prowess, Blackwell received numerous collegiate offers and finally enrolled at the University of California, where he played freshman basketball.

"But I didn't care for the place," he said. "It was too big and crowded, so I went home."

Blackwell, the National league's leading pitcher in 1947 with a 22-8 record for a fifth place club, came into prominence as a pitcher while playing with an industrial league in California in 1941.

He attracted scouts from a half dozen major league clubs, among them Pat Patterson of the Reds. Blackie lost the game Patterson sat in on, but the Redleg scout was so impressed he signed the lanky right-hander on the spot.

Blackwell never had seen a major league game or player when he reported at the Reds' spring training camp in 1942. He appeared in two Cincinnati games that year before being shipped to the club's Syracuse farm in the International league.

Then came three years in the Army. Blackie was a mess sergeant at Fort Benning, Ga., and later saw action in the European theater, earning two battle stars. He pitched four shutouts in service baseball.

Blackwell was a Redleg regular in 1945, but he was far from a star. He appeared in 33 games, winning nine and losing 13.

The big boy with the bullwhip delivery came into his own in 1947. He was the sparkplug of the team and lifted it out of the second division with his 22 wins, which included 16 in a row, tying the record of several other modern big leaguers.

Arm trouble plagued Blackwell during the 1948 season and he finished with a 7-6 record. He made few starts after midseason.

Blackie made his second venture in matrimony last August. He and pretty Dorothy Davenport of Glen-dale, Calif., were married in Covington, Ky. His earlier marriage had ended in divorce.

For a time, at the end of the 1948 season, Blackwell sold automobiles here. Later, he returned to his California home, where he fished and golfed with his bride.

With only 190 pounds spread over his tall frame, Blackie has been far from a robust individual. He caught frequent colds and early this year physicians decided an infected kidney was the cause of his rundown condition.

The kidney was removed and it was feared the Reds would lose Blackwell for the 1949 season.

However, he reeled for spring training and, although 20 pounds underweight, expressed belief he would be pitching before the regular season was many weeks old.

Blackie still hasn't regained much of his weight and now is considered the six-foot six-inch question mark of the Rhinelanders, playing their first full season under Manager Bucky Walters.

SPORTS Paul Brown Poorest Loser In World--Had No Practice

By FRITZ HOWELL

CLEVELAND, April 22—(AP)—The poorest loser in the world—that's Paul E. Brown, master-mind coach of the Cleveland Browns.

Maybe he's a tough loser because he hasn't had much practice! Through his long coaching career at Severn Prep, Massillon High, Ohio State university, Great Lakes and with the professionals, he's had only one losing year.

On the handball court, the golf course or at the penny-ante poker table he's just as successful. The guy's uncanny!

He's just a little fellow, this "Pro-cision Paul" whose Browns romped to an undefeated-united season last fall in annexing their third straight All-American conference crown.

If his weight gets up to 140 he goes on a diet and wears out several handball opponents to "get back in shape." He never smokes, and he has only a nodding acquaintance with alcohol, so he doesn't stray far from physical perfection.

On the field he looks like a mild-get compared with the huge guys on his ball club. His eldest son, Robin, is a fine high school swimmer who at six feet tops his Dad by several inches.

"I'm glad he's that big," Paul declares. "Now he can't wear my clothes all the time."

But why Robin should want to wear his pop's duds is a mystery. Paul is a neat and conservative dresser, with a failing for all shades of brown, and his quiet wardrobe would have few enthusiasts for a high schooler in these days when the youngsters lean toward T-shirts and blue jeans.

Paul graduated from Massillon High school, attended Ohio State for a year and then shifted to Miami when he figured he was too small to make the Buckeye varsity.

Before graduation from Miami he married his high school sweetheart, and he and the greenies and beautiful "Katy" are still that way about each other. His first job was at Severn, near Annapolis, and Paul recalls:

"We loaded everything we owned in a Ford coupe when we went over there."

Two years later he was at Massillon, where in his last 60 games he lost one and tied one. Then he made the big jump to Ohio State for three seasons. Then the war, and he coached Great Lakes. From there he jumped to the Browns.

While coaching Massillon High, Paul earned his master's degree at Ohio State. His thesis was on "Libraries in Ohio." During one of the summers when he was seeking that degree, he and Katy wandered into the Buck football stadium and sat down. Paul turned to Katy and said:

"Sometime I'd like to be here running the football show. It's the height of my ambition."

Not long after that he was Ohio State coach, and the first opponent was Missouri. And early in the contest Missouri led 7-0. Assistant Coach Hugh McGrawhan turned to Paul and said:

"Well, here's the show you want to run. We're seven behind, and what are you going to do about it?"

Kat Graf rolled to a pair of touchdowns to send Brown on his way with a 12-7 victory.

He lost one game and tied one that year, 1941, but came back in 1942 for the National championship. The war stripped the Buck team of talent in 1943, and with a squad of 4-F and 17-year-old freshmen, Brown suffered the only losing year of his career.

He won three and lost six that season, after playing a great first half in each. Of his only loser, Brown declares:

"Of all the teams I've coached, that's the one I'm really proud of. They were a bunch of kids playing against men, and what a fight they put up! They were one of the really great teams in Ohio State history."

Financial security and fame in his field have come Brown's way at Cleveland. But he still has the same "will to win" which he displayed on the way up. He wears out a pair of shoes in practice every game, walking nervously up and down the sidelines kicking the frozen turf. Nothing less than five touchdowns, with a minute to play, is a safe lead in his book.

When he took over the Browns he told owner Mickey McBride:

"I won't have anything but a winner, and we'll have a winner if I have to spend every cent you've got. He's often said he'd rather win a game before a crowd of 1,000 than lose before 50,000."

On May 6-7 he holds his annual clinic for some 1,200 coaches—the biggest event of its kind in history. After that he'll take his entire staff on a tour of Ohio, playing 10 golf courses in 10 days, in their annual "Let's Have Fun" jaunt.

Paul has been practicing his putting on the living room rug during the winter. And if he has to hole a 40-footer to win or break even in one of the matches, don't bet he won't make it. He's the kind of guy who has the punch in the pinch.

HERE'S ONE THAT RIVALS THE BEST FISHING YARNS

By FRITZ HOWELL

OHIO A. P. Sports Editor COLUMBUS, April 22—(AP)—We know it's the off season, but we just feel like writing a duck-hunting piece for the papers.

You'll have to blame Sen. A. Willis Robertson (D-Va.) for that urge. The senator told his colleagues March 24 that the duck population and breeding stock was being depleted by "flagrant violation of the shooting rules."

The wildlife management institute mailed us a copy of the senator's speech, in which he waxed both wroth and indignant. He was especially incensed over a Californian who admitted that another man had shot 50,000 ducks for him.

The senator understands that shooting has continued unabated along the lower Mississippi, despite the Jan. 9 season's close. He wants to do something about it—such as raising the price of the federal duck shooting stamp from $1 to $2 to finance more enforcement.

All of which brings up our story. A couple of years ago we went pheasant hunting up around North Baltimore. That evening, as we sat in a Bowling Green hotel, one of the party said:

"Let's go up to my place along the lake and shoot ducks in the morning. We've got enough pheasants." (They had enough! I didn't have any.)

We finally arrived near Port Clinton, and found that our host's cabin was up a stream with a French-sounding name. It was cold, and ice was forming as I (naturally) rowed the group up the river. We landed, trooped into the three-room cabin, and there found one of the most interesting characters I've ever known.

He was the cabin caretaker. He was about 75 years old, and his beard was long. He was what is known along the lake as a snake hunter, and was well fortified internally against snake bite.

We had a bite to eat, a dram of cough syrup to ward off colds, and fell in bed. Next morning, just as dawn was streaking across the sky, we were up and at 'em.

Our host, while the rest of us drank coffee, walked out into the raging wind. He was back in a half-minute with the sad news.

"No ducks today," he said. "The river and pond back of the cabin are frozen solid, and the ducks can't land."

At that the old snakehunter looked up and said:

"If we had a bottle of ink, we'd get a million of 'em."

We put our coffee cups down, turned silently toward the veteran and he went on:

"You see, those ducks won't land on that ice. If they did, they couldn't take off. But if you have a bottle of ink you pour it into a bucket of warm water, stir it up, and then walk out to the middle of the pond. You upset it there slowly, and it makes a bluish circle about 20 feet across."

"It freezes slick, but to the ducks flying around up there it looks like the only open water around. So in they come. They hit that ice and skid on their feet and tails. They can't take off, and while they're flopping around you just whirl some long clubs across the ice and then walk out and pick up the ducks."

"The warden's don't hear you shooting when you get 'em that way, so they don't investigate around here. Yessir, if we had a bottle of ink, we'd get a million of 'em."

We just wanted to let the senator know that illegal shooting isn't the only way the duck crop is being depleted. If everyone went hunting with that bottle of ink it wouldn't take long until we had no ducks at all.

BATTING—Bob Scheffing, Cubs, smashed homer with Andy Patko on base in eighth inning for 4-3 edge over Pittsburgh.

PITCHING—Steve Gronke, Indians, let down St. Louis Browns with two hits, both homers, in 8-2 victory.

Helpless Reds, Joeless Yankees Are Unbeaten In Both Loops; Experts Wonder

By JACK HAND

(Associated Press Sports Writer) Attention, Happy Chandler! Somebody is tampering with the big league standings.

Cincinnati, doomed by the experts to finish in the cellar, is the only unbeaten team in the National league.

The poor, old beat-up New York Yankees, supposedly hobbled by the loss of Joe DiMaggio and others, are out front in the American league.

Eddie Dyer's St. Louis Cardinals still haven't won a game, and the powerhouse Boston Red Sox had to resort to bases on balls to break into the victory column.

Maybe things will straighten out when the weather gets hot but right now, Happy, they're in a terrible mess.

Bucky Walters, starting his first full year as Cincinnati manager, followed the old custom of pitching left-handers against the Cardinals. As usual, it worked.

Following up Kenny Raffenberg's opening day performance, Walters called on another Lefty, John Vander Meer, yesterday. The 33-year-old veteran responded with a five-hit shutout, 5-0. Vandy, a 17-game winner last year, retired the last 11 batters in order to top Howie Pollet.

The power the Reds are not supposed to have, won for them. Hank Sauer and Jimmy Bloodworth hit homers, each with a man on base, to ruin Pollet's first start.

Now the Reds go to Pittsburgh to help the Pirates open their home season today.

The first night game of the season is also on schedule—Philadelphia at Washington. The Senators had their home opener Monday.

The Yankees' replacements came to give Manager Case Stengel a third straight victory over Washington, 2-1. Johnny Lindell, playing in DiMaggio's old spot in centerfield, started the winning rally against Forrest Thompson with a single in the last of the ninth. After an error, Hank Bauer, Charley Keller's sub in left field, came through with a game-ending double.

Cleveland warmed up for its home opener by thumping St. Louis, 8-2, with the help of homers by Larry Doby and Joe Gordon.

The Boston Red Sox untracked themselves to salvage the finale of their series with the Philadelphia A's, 4-0. It was a scoreless battle between Phil Marchiondo and Mel Parnell until the ninth. Two walks with the bases loaded and a single by Parnell gave the Sox their margin.

Chicago finally stopped Johnny

8 OPENINGS REMAIN IN SPEEDWAY EVENT

INDIANAPOLIS, April 22—Seven driver nominations today left only eight cockpits open in 66 cars entered in the 33rd annual 500-mile auto race May 30.

Danny Kladis of Chicago, forced out early in the 1946 race, is the only one of the seven who ever started in the Memorial day classic.

Drivers who will try to qualify for the first time are George Fonder, Lansdale, Pa., in the entry of Ray T. Brady, Norristown, Pa.; Randall Banks, Indianapolis, entry of Roy Worline, Indianapolis; Tommy Matson, Los Angeles, entry of Bill Sheffield, Los Angeles; Pat Flaherty, Los Angeles, entry of Anthony Granatelli, Chicago; Jimmy Dwall, Wabash, Ind., entry of Stephen Truchan, Gary, Ind., and Wally Stokes, Willoughby, O., entry of Thomas Kupiec, Detroit.

Thirty-three of the 60 drivers nominated have driven in at least one previous Memorial day race.

Merchant Teams Will Practice On Sunday

A practice session for the Senior and Junior Merchant baseball teams will be held at 1 p. m. Sunday at Centennial park, Walt Mellinger announced today.

Sessions will also be held at 5:30 p. m. Tuesday and Friday of next week.

All interested in playing with either squad are requested to report Sunday.

Two Wheels

CAIRO—(UP)—For the first time in history, the 2,000-mile-long North African desert from Tunis to Cairo has been traversed on bicycle.

Camel caravans had trailed along the desert under Arab traders, and tank units rumbled along the same route under Montgomery's command. But 27-year-old Ingvald Wiberg, a free-lance journalist from Sweden, has done it on two wheels. It took Wiberg 17 days, including three days of rest, to roll up the 2,000 miles of desert and make Cairo.

Day after day, night after night, under broiling sun and in desert moonlight, the young Swede pedaled on, leaving a new kind of marking on the face of the Sahara.

Deep in a soft armchair in the Pharaonic Hall of Sheppard's Hotel, Cairo, sand-covered, tousled-haired Wiberg sat to tell his story. "I liked the trip fine," he said. "But I am not going to touch a bicycle again for a long time, you bet."

"On the first day I wheeled for 170 miles to make Sfax. That was too heavy a start, and the next day I could make only 100 miles to Gabes."

"The 550 miles between Misurata and Benghazi were the hardest stretch of the whole trip. There was nothing but desert and desert. What was marked on the map as villages and farmsteads turned out to be desolate ruins in the path of war. Thousands of wrecked tanks, guns and planes littered the route as reminders of the Monty-Rommel war in the Western Desert.

Not Too Hot
"I had to sleep in my sleeping bag in the desert some nights, and coming from cold Sweden to what was supposed to be 'hot Africa,' I was surprised to feel stiff with cold in the mornings."

"The only people I saw were Bedouins. I got along very well with them. We had cozy chats together, by signs. I never will forget those nights in the desert, when the Bedouins gave me strong, hot tea at flaming fires in their well-known Arab hospitality."

"Sometimes dogs rushed at me while I wheeled quietly like a ghost through the moonlit African night. On more than one occasion I had a pack of six or seven vicious dogs dashing at my heels—or rather wheels. I never used any light on my bicycle, which may have increased the general feeling of something very mysterious passing by in the night."

"My worst experience was what the French call 'le cafard,' or desert creep. It really frays your nerves to see nothing but sand for hours and hours—not a single tree or a clump of green grass."

Eliminate Overtime
AKRON, April 22—A 40-hour week for hourly-rated city employees was made mandatory by city council yesterday. Administration spokesman said the move would eliminate virtually all overtime.

Survivor of Malmédy Massacre To Tell Story

WASHINGTON, April 22—One of the few GI's who lived through the Malmédy massacre will tell his story of the mass murder to a senate committee today.

Sergeant Kenneth F. Ahrens of Erie, Pa., will give senators an eyewitness account of how German SS troops shot down their American captives in the Battle of the Bulge. Ahrens will come before a senate committee today to tell his story of the mass murder to a senate committee today.

He is one of the 43 American soldiers who survived the German slaughter of GI's near the little town of Malmédy, Belgium, in December, 1944.

Boyle's COLUMN

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(AP)—In a small hospital lecture room a dozen adults were earnestly trying to burp together.

"Come on, out with it now!" urged their teacher, a big, genial, florid-faced man with a scar on his throat.

"Buh-buh-buh—uhrrrrrr!" said the class.

"Fine, said the big man. 'Now—buh-buh-buh-buh-buh!'"

"Good. Now—buh-buh-buh-buh! And put your body into it."

"Buh-buh-buh-buh!" chanted the class.

Each of the ten men and two women in the class had a scar on the throat. Each had survived an operation for cancer of the larynx—the late Damon Runyon's ailment.

Each had lost his voice box.

One night a week they came to this class and struggled to learn to talk again. And they did it by first learning to burp.

"A burp is different from a belch," explained their teacher, Dan Meenan, a former Wall Street broker who also used to coach basketball at Columbia university.

"A belch is involuntary. It comes from the stomach. The burp is voluntary. It comes from the esophagus. You just have to make your gullet take the place of your voice box.

"Swallow some air. Then force it from your stomach up through your esophagus. Once you learn to make this burp sound, your tongue, teeth and lips can take it over. They can shape this one sound into any word you ever knew."

MOST OF THE class were middle-aged or elderly. Cancer of the larynx rarely strikes young people. In the class were a truckdriver, a factory worker, a white-haired Irish factory supervisor, a retired woman schoolteacher, a Tennessee housewife, a 64-year-old textile manufacturer.

One by one they got up and made progress reports.

"I have gone... back to work... on the same job I held... for 37 years," said a small elderly man who worked for a public utilities company. "I even use... the telephone... now."

A grinning salesman of ship supplies boasted:

"I'm selling again... just as before. Business is... good... too."

"But do you still practice your exercises?" demanded Meenan.

"I don't have to," the salesman defended himself. "I talk all day long... as it is."

The class laughed like any group

Age Dole Proposed

A DOLE for everyone over 65 is proposed by Alabama's Gov. James Folsom in testimony on Social Security before the House ways and means committee in Washington. He calls it "The Jim Folsom Plan." (International) of schoolkids who have one over on the teacher. Meenan laughed with them.

Then he made the shy housewife get up and recite a Shakespearean sonnet—"Shall I compare thee to a summer's day?"

This was a real achievement. The class burst into applause.

"You shouldn't have made me do it," said the pleased housewife. "It was too hard."

Meenan laughed again. For only a few months ago this same woman had come to him for help—completely voiceless, inarticulate beyond her tears.

THEN THE WHITE-haired Irishman got up. He had met more trouble than anyone in the class in learning to make the key burp sound. But now he confidently led them in recitations of nursery rhymes—"Humpty Dumpty," "Three Blind Mice," and "Old King Cole."

"Remember what I had you say first to make you relax?" asked Meenan.

"Aw, to Hell... with it!" smiled the Irishman. That was the favorite phrase of the class when they began to tense up.

"To Hell with it!" they all said joyously.

The class ended by singing "East Side, West Side," together. They were led by the textile manufacturer, who only a few weeks before had been so depressed he refused to go to his business.

Afterward Meenan explained how he himself, after surviving a series of five throat operations, had become interested in teaching victims of cancer of the larynx to talk again.

"Anyone with courage and stick-to-it-iveness can do it," he said. "And most can go back to their old jobs. I've taught some 300 people. Among them is the head of a stock exchange firm, still active."

"But there are only four classes of this kind in the country. There should be many more. Cancer of the larynx used to be almost 100 percent fatal. Now, if they detect it early, they cure 85 percent of the cases."

"If you have to get cancer, pray you get it in your throat."
